

Calendar of Speech-Language Activities

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
					1 Ask someone a question about anything.	2 Ask a family member about their childhood.
3 Say what you remember about the family member's childhood.	4 Summarize your favorite book or movie in four sentences.	5 Say hello to someone in another language.	6 Explain how to make a favorite dish or meal step-by-step as if you're talking on the phone.	7 Write down a lyric from a song that you really like.	8 Read a book or watch a movie and state the main idea.	9 Ask someone their opinion about something.
10 Tell someone how to draw a flower step by step without telling them what the object is.	11 State five qualities or personality traits you like about yourself.	12 State five antonyms for every quality or trait you mentioned yesterday.	13 Give yourself positive self-talk. Compliment yourself.	14 Try to convince your parent or guardian about one thing you feel strongly about.	15 Use three different ways to say "I am listening." (Hint: It could just be nodding.)	16 Explain to someone how to get from your house to your school using precise and clear directions.
17 April showers bring May flowers. Now create your own rhyming sentence.	18 Retell one of the earliest memories you have.	19 What is an ending of a book or movie that you didn't like? How would you change it?	20 Listen to someone's opinion that you disagree with. Summarize the opinion in your own words.	21 Why does the person have that opinion? Do you understand their point of view?	22 Use a metaphor or simile to describe school closure during the pandemic.	23 Tell what you know about one job that you're interested in.
24 Write or send someone a nice message of appreciation.	25 Tell someone a joke or riddle.	26 Apologize for one thing you've done.	27 Retell one of the scariest memories you have.	28 Retell one of the funniest memories you have.	29 State or write three goals you have in life.	30 Say what you would do with a million bucks.
31 Describe this month with four adjectives.						